EXCURSION, VIA JITNEY,

TO CAMP GOOD WILL

Summer Outings Committee Arranges Event for Next Wednesday.

With the advent of the true summer weather of the last few days increased interest in Camp Good Will and the Baby Hospital has been aroused. So

The summer outings committee of the Associated Charities, which has the two institutions in charge, is planning to run a jitney bus excursion from the summer outings days headquarters,

106 H street northwest, to the two places Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Many persons have already expressed their intention of going.

Some persons are recommending to their friends of nervous temperament to take an active part in the excursion, themselves having found that through interest in these places they have been greatly benefited. They are in contact with the boys and girls who are at the camp and to get their point of view is most refreshing, it is said.

Plenty Things to Eat.

For instance, the following exclamation was voiced by one youngster recently following his first meal at the camp:

"My, miss! I have at more in the last two months than I have in the last two months."

That particular meal had taken two and one-half bushels of potatoes, twenty-five heads of cabbage, fifty pounds of corn, fifty loaves of bread, two huge dishes of tomato soup, pounds of butter and ten gallons of milk to give the kiddies and their mothers a sufficiency. The potatoes, raised in the garden this year, are large, and the potatoes from one hill, numbering six, and a head of cabbage were put on display at the headquarters. The very man walked in and remarked that they reminded him of the potatoes they used to grow in the Dakotas twenty years ago, when they had turned the dirt to rot for wheat. He then left his contribution for the kiddies.

More Volunteers Needed.

The number of people coming into headquarters has steadily increased, and all sorts of questions are asked about the kiddies and their ways of amusement, and from whence they come. The number of volunteers is increasing as summer outings days draw near. Many more volunteers are still needed. Mrs. Edwin H. Sefton, the chairman of this committee, is leaving no stone unturned to make these days the banner days in the history of the summer camps.

Yesterday was the first gala day of the season. The navy yard committee, with band and speaker, lemonade and ice cream, went to the camp to make the hearts of the children merry for the rest of the day.

The committee has felt the pinch of cold weather on the contribution income, and hopes that the people of this city will enable it to run the camps through a full season. Contributions may be sent to John Joy Edson or Andrew Parker, 923 H street, Washington, D. C.

Engaged in War on Mosquitoes.

John F. Aubrey of this city has been employed by the street cleaning department of Baltimore to assist in the active campaign, just started there, against malaria-bearing mosquitoes.

Mr. Aubrey worked under Surgeon General G. H. Henshaw in a similar campaign on the Panama Canal Zone.

FINDS IT NO LONGER TERM OF REPROACH

Voters Glad to Be Known as Straight Republicans, Senator Penrose Says.

PREDICTS BIG VICTORY FOR HIS PARTY IN 1916

Asks Only for the Nomination of Standard Bearer With Sane Business Ideas.

BY N. O. MESSENGER.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—"To be called a straight republican is no longer a term of reproach or offense among voters in this country."

"Republicans are indifferent to the clamor about 'bourbonism' or 'reactionism.' It doesn't mean anything. The republican party will nominate for President a man who is sound on the protective tariff and sane in his view of business conditions, and will carry every state north of Mason and Dixon's line."

Thus spoke United States Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania in the course of an interview accorded The Star's staff correspondent in the senator's office in this city. Senator Penrose is one of the important republicans whose counsel and influence will have weight in the choice of a standard bearer for the republican party. He will head the second largest delegation to the national convention.

The statement above was elicited by the inquiry of how the republicans in their choice of a candidate to meet the demands of business and industrial interests will overcome the expected charge of the radical progressives that the party has been "captured by the reactionaries."

Swift to Respond.

The senator's comeback was swift and from the shoulder. He declines to classify as a "reactionary" a republican who is "sound on the tariff" and "sane in his view of business." The inference is drawn that if any one cares to so stigmatize a republican answering to the characterization let it go that way and fight it out on that line.

"In my opinion, coming from Senator Penrose, 'the sound' and 'sane' are words of agitation current in the past few years are closed, just as the period of grime, filth, fraud, silver and populism ran their course and were finished. If it is claimed that the agitation accomplished good, it is a national certainty that a great deal of harm was wrought."

"One result is that enterprise is paralyzed and business bad while money is remarkably plentiful. If it had not been for the war in Europe and the placing of foreign orders in parts of the country, together with the enforced cessation of importations, the conditions would be worse."

"Bad democratic legislation and administration has brought about our troubles, and the people know it. Former republicans who did not support the regular ticket in 1912 are coming back in the thousands, and they are coming back as straight republicans, to support republican doctrine and to back the ticket which is to be nominated after full and free deliberation."

Gauges Republican Sentiment.

"I believe that many republicans feel as I do; they do not care so much what the candidate's name may be, whether it be Fairbanks, or Weeks, or Mann, or Burton, or Root, or any of a dozen equally acceptable names, so that the nominee be a straight republican."

"The national convention will be composed of delegations from all sections and districts and they can be trusted to make a wise selection. It will be no surprise to me to see the republican party nominated for the nomination and that many ballots should be taken."

"The republican party will appeal for a return to sanity, for the repeal of obnoxious legislation, for the restoration of the republican policy of protective tariff with resulting prosperity and harmonious in their aims and policies. Because they have not decided upon a leader, thus far, is not a sign of disunion nor a source of weakness, but an element of strength."

Trend of Public Thought.

"The way the political wind is blowing will be demonstrated in the elections in Pennsylvania this fall, a year ahead of the national election. The important county officers throughout the state and a mayor of Philadelphia. These are the elections that bring out the voters and demonstrate the feeling of the people, because of deep-seated local interest in the offices and candidates."

"The democratic party in Pennsylvania is split in half already, as a result of the management of the new democratic leaders. Counties that contain a large normal democratic vote will not support the new democratic ticket in the republican fall. The democratic state platform on the liquor question and woman suffrage has alienated the German vote in the northeastern counties which are the strongholds of democracy."

"Business men in this state are against democratic policies, both national and state, and the democrats will be overwhelmed in the state elections this fall."

"In Philadelphia, a straight republican will be elected mayor. The city is thoroughly disgusted with the so-called 'reform' administration now in office. We will nominate a strong candidate and elect him overwhelmingly."

In Line With Western View.

Senator Penrose's statement at the outset of this verbatim interview, as to his attitude toward the type of candidate for the presidency to be chosen by the republican party voices the sentiment of republicans of prominence in states in the central west who have recently given their views in The Star's correspondence, and is even more outspoken and bold than some others.

His talk is of importance as further corroborating the knowledge of the general trend of policy of the leaders of the republican party toward their next campaign and its issues.

JUSTICE HAGNER'S WILL IS FILED FOR PROBATE

His Relatives—Other Last Beneficiaries—Other Last Testaments.

The will of Alexander B. Hagner, retired justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, dated July 16, 1914, has been filed for probate. The principal beneficiaries are a number of nieces, nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews. Randall H. Hagner, Hennyhan Gordon and Joseph J. Darlington are named as executors.

Specific bequests are made of household effects, bric-a-brac, pictures and heirlooms to near relatives and friends. A legacy of $1,000 is provided for Miss Mary J. Williams for her attention to the wife of the testator. Each of the family servants is remembered with a bequest of $50.

A painting by Plot, called "The Rosebud," is given to St. John's Orphanage, as requested by the wife of Justice Hagner. Should the institution not have the picture it is provided it shall have $500 in cash, the price of the painting. To the bishop of the Raleigh Episcopal diocese of Virginia, in which is located Goochland county, is left $500.

The executors are authorized to sell the homestead at 1818 H street northwest and to distribute the proceeds in specified shares among nieces and nephews, including Fanny R. Hagner, Fanny N. Worthington, Robert D. Hagner, Francis R. Hagner, Alexander H. Hagner, Ignatius T. Hagner, Charles E. Hagner, Jr., Isabella L. Hagner and the descendants of Richard Henry Hagner, brother of the testator.

Other Wills Filed.

By the terms of the will of Martin V. Hottel, dated July 31, 1903, his entire estate is devised to his wife, Julia H. Hottel. She is also named as executrix.

The will of John W. Curran, dated in 1910, provides a bequest of $1,000 for his son, George D. Curran. The remaining estate is devised to his wife, Clara M. Curran, who is also named as executrix.

James R. Hayden of St. Joseph, Ky., is named sole beneficiary of the will of his brother, Jerome B. Hayden. The will, dated July 31, 1903, names as executor the treasurer of the United States Soldiers' Home.

RETAIL CREDIT BUREAU NOW HAS 23,000 NAMES

Merchants' Association Adding Others at the Rate of 1,000 a Month.

More than 23,000 names are now to be found in the credit information bureau conducted by the Retail Merchants' Association, according to a statement made in the monthly report of the organization, copies of which have been sent to its members. Names are being added to the list at the rate of about 1,000 a month. It is contemplated that through the activities of the credit men's section, which holds bi-monthly luncheon meetings at the Raleigh Hotel, this average will be greatly increased.

President R. P. Andrews has issued a call for the regular quarterly meeting of the association, to be held at the Raleigh Hotel on the evening of Tuesday, July 29. Committees representing home trade and the "Buy in and Boost for Washington Movement" will make reports at this meeting.

Mr. Andrews left Friday afternoon for Menasha, Wis., where today he is celebrating his birthday anniversary in conjunction with that of George A. Whiting of Menasha, one of the oldest paper manufacturers in the United States. Mr. Andrews was accompanied on the trip by South Trimble, clerk of the House of Representatives, and Jerry South, chief clerk. He is expected to return to Washington about July 15.

PUBLIC TO INSPECT HOSPITAL.

New Emergency Institution to Be Open Tuesday and Wednesday.

The new Emergency Hospital and Central Dispensary on New York avenue between 17th and 18th streets, opposite the Corcoran Art Gallery, will be open for inspection Tuesday and Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The board of directors of the institution cordially invite the public to visit the new institution during those hours.

Officers of the institution will be on hand to welcome visitors, and will show them about the building and explain the uses of the equipment, which, it is claimed, constitutes one of the most modern hospitals in the United States.

The management expects that the hospital will be opened for the reception of patients and emergency work July 10.

WEATHER.

Partly Cloudy Today and Monday; Probably Showers Monday.

For the District of Columbia and Maryland, partly cloudy Sunday and Monday; probably local showers Monday; not much change in temperature; light to moderate variable winds, mostly southerly.

Pressure has not changed decidedly in any section in the last twenty-four hours, it remaining high off the Atlantic coast and over the northern Rocky mountain region, and low elsewhere. This pressure distribution has been attended by general showers east of the Mississippi river and in the west gulf states, the northern plains states and the Rocky mountain region.

Temperatures continue below the seasonal average over much of the country, and the weather is unseasonably cool in the northern plains states and the northern Rocky mountain region.

The indications are that partly overcast and showery weather will continue during the next forty-eight hours over the greater portion of the country east of the Mississippi river and the west gulf states. Temperature will not change materially over the eastern half of the country during the next forty-eight hours.

The winds along the north Atlantic and middle Atlantic coast will be moderate variable, mostly southerly; on the south Atlantic coast moderate south and south-easterly; on the west gulf coast moderate easterly; on the upper lakes moderate variable, becoming westerly; on the lower lakes light to moderate south and southwest.

SON SEES SUICIDE ATTEMPT.

Harry K. Scrivener, Despondent, Cuts Throat—Condition Serious.

In the presence of his twelve-year-old son, William, Harry K. Scrivener, a painter, 1233 29th street northwest, last night attempted suicide by cutting his throat with a table knife. He had been in ill health for some time.

He had written a note requesting that his friends dance about his body at the morgue.

"Let the rest do for you," Scrivener wrote his wife, "and let Willie have what belongs to me. I'm going away for good."

Scrivener was in the yard in rear of his house when he inflicted the wound. His little son came to his mother, and Mrs. Scrivener and neighbors responded. Scrivener was cared for in his home until he could be taken to Georgetown University Hospital. His condition is serious.

BOYS HAVE GREAT TIME AT THE Y. M. C. A. CAMP

Weather Is Fine and Every Minute Something Is Doing—Parents' Day Tomorrow.

Reports received from the Y. M. C. A. camp on the South river, a short distance from Annapolis, indicate that the party of boys who are enjoying a two-week vacation there are having "the time of their lives." The weather has been fine and there has been something doing every minute since the boys arrived there.

The program for each day at the camp calls for a dip the first thing in the morning. At 7:45 o'clock the breakfast "whistle" is blown. After the "eat" the boys assemble under a large mulberry tree and hold a devotional hour. Religious talks by the camp director or one of his assistants are given.

The next thing on the program is the daily sail to Edgewater to get the day's provisions and the mail. Sometimes a motor boat is used. By the time the boat returns all the camps have been put in the best of order in readiness for the daily inspection.

Three Swims Each Day.

There are three "swims" each day—morning, noon and afternoon—and while it is in progress the boys stand in readiness to go to the assistance of any boy who might meet with trouble. One of the camp officials supervises all of the swimming periods. Special instruction in swimming is given beginners and those desiring to learn new strokes.

In the afternoon there generally is a base ball game. Some of the boys devote their time to reading, for there is a good library at the camp.

At 6 o'clock in the evening everybody "spruces up" for dinner, which is followed by music. At nightfall a camp fire is lighted.

Tomorrow is to be parents' day at the camp and the mothers and fathers of the number of the campers are expected to be present.
